Railway Subsidies.

OTTAWA, 25.—A bill of railway subsidies in which Manitoba and the North-west are interested, was brought down yesterday afternoon. Namely:—North-western Coal and Navigation company is addition to the grant provided for are to get an extension of not exceeding 2,600 acres of land per mile from Dunmore station to Lethbridge. The condition of the subsidy is that the road is to be made of the standard gauge. The same company from Lethbridge to the International boundary is to secure a subsidy not exceeding 6,400 acres per mile.

The West-Valley Railway company is to get 6,400 per mile. The Alberta and Great North-western from Calgary to Edmonton 10,000 acres per mile.

The Qu'Appelle Long Lake & Saskatchewan Railway & Steamship company is to receive 6,400 acres per mile from the present termination of their road at Long Lake to Prince Albert. The Manitoba Railway & Company is to get 6,400 acres per mile for their road from Portage la Prairie to the southern boundary of Lake Manitoba.

Sir John will move the house into committee to consider the resolution, "that it is expedient in order to enable the Qu'Appelle Long Lake & Saskatchewan Railway & Steamship company to complete the railway from Regina to Regina and Saskatchewan and thence to Prince Albert, to enter into a contract with such company for the transportation of passengers, supplies, materials and mails for twenty years, and to pay for such service during such term $80,000 per annum.

The Behring Sea Seizure.

OTTAWA, 27.—In the House, Mr. Prior brought up the question of the seizure of British vessels in the Behring Sea.

Sir John in reply said that the United States insists upon its pretensions and grave complications will arise. What the result will be he dare not say now. He dare not think of the results. Canada has resisted her neighbors' encroachments and she will continue to resist them and compensation is inevitable.

Sir John Macdonald gave notice of a land grant to the Wood Mountain & Qu'Appelle Railway, granting 6,400 acres per mile.

Constable McMahon of the Montreal Police force saw a man entering a house at Marston, and after watching the house for several hours went up and demanded the man to come out. But instead of obeying the policeman to throw up his hands he drew his revolver and fired three shots at McMahon and his Indian companion. Quicker than a flash they brought their rifles in position and brought the outlaw to the ground with a wound in his hip. Assistance soon arrived and the captured outlaw was taken to Sherbrooke jail by special train.

Probability of Resistance to United States Cutters.

VICTORIA, B. C., 23.—Sealers are very much concerned about an announcement from Washington that all vessels sailing in Behring Sea waters will be seized. Hunters and sailors are objecting to going on a cruise under the present circumstances. It is believed that a war vessel will enter Behring Sea to protect the British sealers, but no definite statement has yet been made to that effect. The sealers claim that while the United States government sends forth a proclamation and there is a great bragging what will be done, Great Britain and Canada have said nothing in the matter, nor informed the public what answer they intend to give or the stand they will make this year, or whether they will protect the interests of British sealers. Sealing schooners that go into Behring Sea will be armed, and they will not tamely submit, as before, to piratical attacks by American cutters. They believe, though that they should be afforded proper protection by the British navy.

WINNIPEG, 27.—A terrible tragedy was enacted at High Bluff yesterday, W. McLeod, a farmer, crushing in the skulls of his two children, a boy and girl aged 15 and 8 respectively, and then cutting his own throat. The girl and father are dead and the boy's head is so horribly cut that he cannot recover. An Exposer Interrupted.

TORONTO, 26.—Arthur Sumner, ex-editor of the War Cry, the Salvation Army organ, has left for the United States. the Hudson's Bay Company, bringing them to Winnipeg and disposing of them. The furs got into the hands of the Hudson's Bay Co. here and were traced back to Reddon. On the case being called on Saturday, Reddon asked for time to procure counsel. He was allowed to go with Sgt. Coker whom he gave the slip and is now at large. Word was brought this morning that he was seen a couple of miles down the Winnipeg River at an Indian camp. The chief was generally believed to have assisted crown timber inspector Dalmage to escape a week ago. Constables are on the track from Winnipeg and Bat Portage.

Roasted Alive.

HAMILTON, 29.—A terrible railroad accident occurred on the Grand Trunk near here at seven o'clock this morning. The St. Louis express jumped the track and the engine ran into a water tank. Two cars were telescoped and immediately took fire. The unfortunate train was moving at full speed when suddenly it left the track and the locomotive pitched into a large water tank. The wreck took fire immediately, seven out of the ten coaches composing the train were burned. In the ruins of the smoker, scorched and covered with iron charred bodies. The accident is the worst which has occurred in Canada since the great Desjardins disaster which happened thirty years ago when the engine struck the tank the tender leaped completely over, both also did the baggage car. Thirty five people were in the smoker, and just about half that number were roasted alive, the car being almost immediately enveloped in flames from the engine. L. S. Gurney, of Chicago, who was in the smoker was thrown to the side of the track and decapitated. The only persons killed in the accident who have been identified are L. S. Gurney, of Chicago, and Randolph Elmer, address unknown, only legs, arms and trunk are identified. The majority of the passengers on board were bound for New York to attend the Washington inauguration centennial festivities. A number of Detroit militiamen were on board, but none were injured. The accident occurred at the Junction a "Y" is built, the "Y" being used to switch through trains for Toronto, to the Toronto branch from the main line. It was six o'clock and evening before the tracks were cleared.

HAMILTON, 30.—None of the remains taken from the wreck here have been recognized as yet. Hundreds of people have visited the morgue, but none killed were identified. It is thought that those killed were all strangers, as no person from Hamilton or vicinity have been reported missing. The tracks are open today and all trains are running on time. The inquest was continued last evening and adjourned until Wednesday evening. It is thought a broken axle was the cause of the disaster.

AND ALBERTA LIVE STOCK JOURNAL.

Subscription $2 a Year.

Single Copies 5 Cents Each.

The Weekly Herald and Alberta Live Stock Journal is the weekly edition of the Calgary Daily Herald. It is distinct from Wednesday's issue of the Daily Herald, thus allowing a perfect arrangement of matter impossible with those so-called weekly papers which take the place of the daily issue upon the days they are published.

ERNEST J. CHAMBERS,
Editor and Manager.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 1, 1909.

THE ALBANY DISCOURTESY.

A few more such exhibitions of bad taste as that given in Albany the other day when Mr. Mowat, Premier of Ontario, was ordered off the floor of the New York Senate to which he had been invited, because he was a British subject, will completely disgust the long suffering American nation with that rabid Fenian element which its indifference has allowed to get the upper hand in the nation. This discourteous conduct must not be taken as an expression of the public opinion of the United States with respect to Canadians.

THE CHEESE INDUSTRY.

The farmers in this district have for some time been planning for the establishment of a cheese factory in their midst and the Herald has supported them in their efforts to induce capitalists to make the necessary outlay. Mr. Robinson at the old Chipman Ranch has shown his confidence in the future of this prospective Alberta industry by going to the expense of establishing a well equipped cheese factory, and it only remains for the farmers to co-operate, to make a success of the institution they have expressed themselves so anxious to see established. It is to be hoped that the farmers will do all in their power to assist in making of this venture the complete success it deserves. Success, they should remember, means the firm establishment of an industry which promises a great future for themselves and a grand trade for the country.

PROHIBITION FAILURES.

More proof is forthcoming that the Northwest is not the only place where prohibition has been a failure. A correspondent of the Empire writes as follows:

How long will temperance men follow an idea which, wherever it has been tested, has been found impracticable? I could fill a column of your paper with records of the failure of prohibition to prohibit. In Kansas where it is said prohibition is most effective, there are over a thousand more "United States" permits held today than before the passing of the prohibitory law. In Maine the failure of the law is so notorious that no one now ever thinks of naming it as a sample of prohibition, unless it is to hold it up to derision. In Providence, R. I., a city of 107,000 population, after three years of prohibition, there are 529 open saloons and no attempt at prosecutions. It is this Yankee "Will-o-the-Wisp" which only lures you on to land you in a "bog" that our friends wish to force upon Canada. What has been our experience in prohibitory legislation in Canada? First we had the "Dunkin' Act" which promised great things, only to end in utter disappointment to all who adopted it. Then we had the "Scott Act" which is now usually rejected, one minister in St. Thomas giving as the reason for refusing to vote against it, because of the great increase of crime caused by it, and now prohibition, which is the greatest failure of all, must be the object set before us for a moment.

It is a pity that the temperance people are getting pretty well disgusted with the prohibition law.

THE PROPOSED PUBLIC GARDENS.

It is to be hoped that the town council will see its way clear to co-operate with the U.P.R. in establishing a public garden or park on the railway property beside the depot. It is very evident that the proposed garden will greatly beautify the town and supply a pleasant resort for our townspeople. It would be, however, as an advertisement for the country that the garden would be principally advantageous. It is very evident that a glimpse of Alberta agriculture, showing the unequalled fruitfulness of the soil would, at once impress a stranger in town. Then in a few weeks we shall probably have trains passing through by daylight, and the garden would give passengers an insight into the agricultural possibilities of Alberta by a mere glimpse from the car windows. Owing to the high price of town property there are no farms or even gardens amounting to much in the Calgary bottom. The prospect as viewed from the trains or from anywhere in the town is the circle of bald hills which surround the town site. A person ascending these hills finds opened to his view a well settled and well tilled agricultural country, but the view from the railway would well serve to confirm the stranger in the still prevalent idea that agriculture is impossible in Alberta, and that Calgary is located in the centre of an untillable waste. A well cultivated garden in the heart of the town is certainly a decided want and the town council should not fail to avail itself of the grand opportunity now afforded.

It should be needless to remark that promptitude in coming to terms and commencing work is absolutely necessary, if anything is to be made of the garden this year.

OUR LIQUOR QUESTION.

Public opinion in the Eastern Provinces has undergone a great change with regard to the Northwest liquor question. A few months ago there was scarcely a paper in old Canada which did not support the old prohibitory law and indignantly resist any attempt to change it to suit the requirements of the times. Now we find the leading independent organs of public opinion in Eastern Canada conceding the Territories the right to regulate their own liquor question. The Montreal Star of a recent date published the following:

"Some day there will probably be a session of parliament in which the liquor question will not come up in some shape or other. But as far as can be seen that day is a long way off. The latest phase of the question is the opening of the Northwest Territories to the beer kegs. The Lieutenant Governor of the Northwest Territories has issued a permit for the sale of intoxicants in the Territories, and as he is alone responsible under the present regulations the Minister of Justice takes the view that the matter is one with which the Dominion Parliament has no right to interfere. The Territories have been given self-government, and if it pleases them to open their door to the sale of liquor the other provinces have really no right to interfere. How would the people of the Dominion take it, for example, if the crown authorities in England were to take the ground that no liquor should be allowed to come into Canada? In their local affairs the people of the Northwest Territories are as independent of the wishes of the other provinces as are the people of the Dominion in their legislative sphere, independent of the wishes of the people of Great Britain. It is the opinion of Mr. Dewdney that the prohibitory law which prevailed in the Territories had done its work well, but the time for it had passed. The chief object in keeping out intoxicants, as Sir Donald Smith pointed out, was to protect the Indians, with whom the Hudson's Bay Company had such extensive dealings. The principle to keep in view, is this, that whatever the law for the regulation of the liquor question in the Northwest Territories may be, it should be made by the people of the Territories themselves."

It is to this change of public opinion in the East that we owe new legislation placing the regulation of the liquor traffic in the hands of the Territorial legislature.

CANADA'S PROGRESS.

Canadians have had so persistently drummed into their ears by those politicians of the liberal party who are prone to run down the Dominion, the theory that Canada is advancing in the direction of annexation to the United States, that it is refreshing to see an American authority vigorously contending that the policy of the present Canadian Government is tending to a firmer consolidation of the Dominion. The Louisville Commercial of a recent date published the following:

"If we are to annex Canada we had better start the ball rolling right now or it will be too late. At her present rate of progress Canada will soon be a country proud of herself and disposed to think of independence rather than annexation. Since the confederation and the adoption of a protective policy Canada has been advancing with great strides. There are 'booms' there and great chances for land and railroad speculation that are attracting English capital. The Maritime Provinces increased in population rather more than our New England States in the decade covered by the last census; Ontario increased as much as our states adjacent to that province, and Manitoba and British Columbia rival in rapidity of development our Northwest Territories. Montreal has grown as rapidly as any of our great cities, and Toronto faster than Chicago or St. Paul, while in Manitoba and British Columbia there are towns which have sprung into cities rapidly as any of our 'boom' places. The Canadian Pacific furnishes a shorter transcontinental line than any of our Pacific roads; a splendid subsidized line of steamers is about to connect the western end with Japan and China; Quebec is nearer Liverpool by water than New York, and England can reach China some days sooner via the Canadian route than by any of ours. British America divided into jealous and disconnected provinces was very different from Canada united under a federal government, compacted by a comprehensive system of railroads and water communication, and fast developing a national spirit. Canada has now a population of 6,000,000, rapidly increasing and prosperous. If annexation has to come by friendly agreement, it is time for the discussion to open."

Does not this independent outside opinion of the national development of Canada bring a blush to the faces of those so-called Canadians who are unceasingly prating about the failure of the Canadian system and who pretend to something but ruin before this great country.

ALBERTA'S IMPORTANCE.

Alberta is coming to be recognized at its full value, even in Manitoba. We find in the Winnipeg Commercial the following reference to the importance of the development of Alberta:

"The scheme to build a railway from north to south, through our valuable Territory of Alberta, is one which is now attracting a good deal of attention. The proposed road, known as the Alberta & Athabasca Railway, would open up an excellent agricultural, dairy and pastoral country, now entirely without railway communication. It would also connect the distant settlements now formed along the North Saskatchewan River, in the Edmonton district, with the railway system of the country. The road as projected, would cross the Saskatchewan river, and in time pass on into the vast territory beyond, now almost unknown except to the few traders who inhabit or make occasional voyages through the region. The Dominion Government has just given a large grant of land to this road to induce its early construction. Ten thousand acres of land per mile is mentioned as the amount of the grant. This is a larger grant than has been given to other western roads, but the importance of this project is such that it is considered worthy of more than the usual amount of assistance."

Though it is uncertain how soon railway communication may be extended northward in Alberta to the Saskatchewan river, yet it is but a matter of time when not only one, but several roads will be built through the district. So valuable a country is not likely to long remain entirely without railway facilities. Quite a settlement is now being formed in the Red Deer country, through which the proposed Alberta and Athabasca road would pass. Further north in the Edmonton district a settlement was established years ago, and notwithstanding the distance from a railway, this is one of the most important settlements in the Territories. The formation of these settlements at points distant from railways, may be taken as indicating the great value of the country. In addition to the other advantages of the country, coal is found in abundance in this region.

A railway constructed northward to the North Saskatchewan river, would have its northern terminus at the river probably for some years, but in time it would certainly be extended, probably many hundreds of miles north of the river. Attention has only recently been drawn to the vast domain away to the north of the Saskatchewan, through the efforts of Governor Schultz, of Manitoba. If this immense territory is to be opened out and its valuable resources utilized, it will be by the construction of railways into the region. These railways will be built in time."

NORTHWEST EXPENDITURES.

Hon. Mr. Dewdney's speech in the House of Commons on government expenditure in the Northwest contains some interesting reading for Northwest people. It will be remembered that the speech was delivered in reply to a charge by some liberal members that the government was squandering money on the Northwest, that the present government is throwing money away on this country and bleeding the rest of the Dominion to keep the prairie province up. To show that the Conservative Government is not as extravagant as its liberal predecessors, Mr. Dewdney instituted some interesting comparisons. In the course of his speech he remarked:

"For the five years of Liberal Administration the cost of the Civil Government of the Northwest at Ottawa was $204,470, and the total revenue including cash and scrip, was $330,440, in other words the cost of Civil Government alone was 38 per cent. of the total receipts. During the ten years of Conservative Administration since 1878, the cost of Civil Government at Ottawa has been $756,778, and the total revenue $6,375,828, or, in other words, the cost of Civil Government has been but 11 per cent. of the gross revenue. For the corresponding periods of five and ten years, the cost of management in the Northwest, and extra clerks at headquarters has been $147,264, and $295,291, against total revenues of $350,440 and $6,375,828 respectively, that is to say, during the period of five years for which business gentlemen opposite are responsible, the cost of management which is now charged to Dominion lands income, was 42 per cent. of the revenue, while for the ten years of Conservative rule it has been but 20 per cent. of the revenue. Adding together the cost of Civil Government, and management in Manitoba and the Northwest, the total expenditure during the five years of Liberal Administration was $351,735, against a total revenue of $350,440, or 100 per cent. of the revenue, whereas during the ten years of Conservative Administration the cost of Civil Government and management in Manitoba and the Northwest has been $2,052,070 against a total revenue of $3,755,828, that is to say, instead of swallowing the whole revenue it has been but 32 per cent. of it. If you are very anxious to have this matter regarded from a purely cash basis, hon. gentlemen opposite may find some consolation in the information that during their five years in office the cost of Civil Government at Ottawa, which has already been stated to be $204,470, was 219 per cent. of the cash revenue, which was $93,005; while for the ten years of Conservative Administration the cost of Civil Government at Ottawa has been only 15 per cent. of the cash revenue. Just mark the difference, Sir, for every $100 which they drew from Northwest lands in actual cash, they spent on Civil Government alone $119 in actual cash; while this Government, for every $100 of cash revenue, has spent in cash—$229? No, Sir, not even $19, without the $200, or, Sir, $15. Then let us take the cost of management. In Manitoba and let us compare the figures in that respect, on the cash basis. During their period in office, as already stated, they drew a cash revenue from the Northwest of $93,005, and they spent upon their outside service and extra clerk at headquarters $147,264, or 158 per cent. of their revenue, while the Conservative Administration has during the past ten years expended on the same service only $22, for every $100 received in actual cash. The discrepancy between income and expenditure calculated on the cash basis is not quite so great in this case as it is in regard to Civil Government; but the difference between 158 per cent. and 26 per cent. is considerable, in fact six times 26 is 156, as any schoolboy knows, and 156 is a little short of 158. Similarly, Sir, for every $100 of revenue they collected in cash they spent $75 upon surveys, whereas this Government although it has practically surveyed the whole of the country, having outlined the whole of it and subdivided the most of it so that the needs of settlement can be met in the future with comparatively little expense to the country, has only expended in surveys—75 per cent. of the revenue? No, not even 65 per cent., only 60 per cent. the exact figure, being, Sir, 60 per cent. of the cash revenue. The contrast between 75 per cent. and 60 per cent. is one of which my hon. friends on the other side are not likely to say much. Then, still on the basis of the actual cash revenue, let us add together the cost of Government and that of outside management, we find that during their period in office when they had the opportunity spent 378 per cent. of all the cash they received upon these services, whereas this Government has but spent 41 per cent. of its cash revenue in the past ten years upon these services, and hopes to do a good deal better in the future. I may add, Sir, that in their time the proportion of expenditure to revenue was never higher than 2,506 per cent. in any one year, and never less than 54 per cent., including Civil Government, outside management and surveys, whereas the highest proportion under the present Government was in 1880, when about half a million was spent upon surveys, 226 per cent. and the lowest in any year was 36 per cent., with the average increased in favor of revenue and greatly diminished as regards expenditure."

ALL SORTS OF THINGS.

It is reported to be more plentiful in Alberta than ever before and already a new trade for this country is beginning to materialize. Arrangements are now made to ship Alberta eggs to British Columbia.

A gentleman who has interested himself in the subject of Alberta coal deposits, predicts that when we have our railway north and south we shall have coal in Calgary at four dollars a ton. The prophecy does not appear to be unreasonable, when the people can find it profitable to place the very best coal down in Calgary at seven dollars a ton after teaming it nearly thirty miles.

The Winnipeg Commercial says: "The Calgary board of trade has apparently ceased to exist, as nothing has been heard of it for some time. It is peculiar that the largest town in the Territories is unable to support a board of trade, while many of the smaller towns have energetic organizations of this kind." It is difficult to understand why our business men do not at once set to work to remove this reproach from the town and at the same time benefit themselves.

STOCK.

The Scotch Breeds of Cattle.

To the Editor of the Herald.

Sir.—Very interesting reading has been the valuable contributions which have lately appeared in the Calgary Herald under the heading "Agricultural Possibilities," from the pen of Mr. Molison.

In giving his opinions as to the breed of cattle best adapted to the climate and nature of the Northwest, Mr. Molison gives ample reasons for his preference of the Scotch West Highlanders and their crosses; following closely on the same line of facts as did Lord Dunsire, when he brought the subject before your notice in a letter to the English "Field" some eighteen months ago. Perhaps few men in the Northwest can speak from more experience on this subject than Mr. Molison, which certainly enhances the value of his conclusions and suggestions.

The Aberdeen and Angus cattle are put aside as "wanting in hair and resting abilities." That this is to a very large extent true in all the big needs of poaching, tanning, law and dispute. But to all lovers of the country "Pols" it may be gratifying to know that in the Glen and Strath leading from the eastern base of the mountains, there are still to be found many of the "good old sorts" of Aberdeen and Angus, which for hair, and hardiness to face a cold snap, are only inferior to the Kyles.

That the "Pols" have not made such a rapid march among the Northwest ranches as they really deserve, is, I think largely to be charged against the breeders, in the manner in which many of them pamper and force their young cattle, for a fine appearance, and high price, in the show ring, to the ultimate ruin of the animals and to the loss of the breed.

As the result of crossing a well bred polled bull with Kyles cows, I have seen very nice animals, perfect plains, with rich coats of long, silky black hair. That the introduction of West Highland blood into the Herds of the Canadian Northwest would give pieces of hair and hardiness, there can be no doubt. Whilst their crosses are eagerly sought by the butchers, both for the high quality of the meat and their fine weighing properties.

Hoping that Mr. Molison's paper may be the means of drawing the attention of Alberta ranchmen to this handsome little known breed.

I am yours,

M.

Points of a Good Cow.

Professor Robertson of England says: "A good cow is flat-ribbed just back of the shoulders, and has well-sprung ribs further back. She has broad, flat ribs, and so far apart that one can lay two fingers between them. Her skin should be loose and flabby over the flank, and her umbilical development should be firm and strong, with the veins under the belly very prominent. She should be broad between the eyes, should have a short and slightly dished face, and bright and prominent eyes. Besides, the pole or forehead should be long between the horns and the eye, the neck should be clean and thin the backbone strong, the pelvic arch high the hams thin, to give ample room for a large udder, and the tail should be long, slim or flat. She should have a long udder extending well back and in front, one that will be soft and flabby when milked out, and should have a three-fold, wedge-shaped form, the general tendency of weight being toward the udder, facilitating power to produce milk."

Mr. T. W. Souter, formerly of the firm of Souter, York & Co., of the Palace Meat Market, Calgary, is over from the Coast after beef for the British Columbians.

Messrs. Hull & Trounce have brought in as far as the Government Farm, ten miles from Calgary, 100 head of fine fat steers. They will be held at the farm and slaughtered as required for their Calgary trade.

Mr. W. R. Hull has just returned from the ranching district between Calgary and Macleod. He reports the cattle on the ranges generally in fine condition and the calf crop the largest and healthiest ever known in the district.

Mr. Robinson of the Elbow Park has received this morning direct from England two thoroughbred stallions. One is a Shire and the other a Cleveland Bay. The horses arrived in fine condition and are as fresh as colts, though they had only been taken from the cars once between Halifax and Calgary. These horses will be a valuable addition to the breeding stock of Alberta.

Arrangements have about been completed by the Walrond ranch to fence a large portion of their range. The fence will begin at Old Man's River, this side of the Piegan reserve, and will extend to the hills some twelve or fourteen miles, gates being left at regular intervals. We believe the contracts, for getting out posts, etc., have already been let.—Macleod Gazette.

Mr. Van Kenburg of Vancouver who inaugurated the shipping of beef cattle from Calgary to the British Columbia markets is again in town. He starts out southward this afternoon to look up a train load of fat cattle for our Pacific coast. He assured a HERALD reporter that there is a splendid market over there for our mutton, cheese and butter, and that the people would rather deal with Alberta than trade with a foreign state.

Stockmen are somewhat uneasy concerning bluetongue, and fear a further outbreak. Within a few weeks past there have been several deaths from this fatal disease. On the Kootenai, near Scott's Coulee, five head have died within the past three weeks. This vicinity has until lately been free from the disease. There have been a number of other cases in different parts of the country. Mr. Brooks, who has lost several head has put signs in all his young stock, and has not lost any since. Mr. Goddard, who has also suffered, has done the same. The question of inoculating the calves with gland at the spring branding should engage the serious attention of stockmen.—Macleod Gazette.

Thoroughbred Stock on Route.

BRANDON, 25.—Mr. Shepherd has at the stock yards here some very fine thoroughbred Poitard-Angus stock belonging to R. H. Pope, of Cookshire, Que. Mr. Shepherd is stopping off at different places along the line exhibiting the stock and making sales, having the privilege of remaining over for forty-eight hours in each place, making the coast his destination. There are twenty-two bulls and four cows in the lot, ranging in age from three to ten months, and in price from $125.00 to $250.00. These have all been bred from imported stock and are registered in the Canadian stock book, and are considered the best stock in Canada.

Tree Planting in the West.

Arbor Day will soon be upon us, and as the season is much earlier this season than usual, it behooves those who intend to do anything toward planting trees, either in town or country to take action so much earlier. The importance of a shelter belt in the country and of shade and ornamental trees in town are too universally recognized to need argument; the thing to be sought is, how to get the best results with least labor and loss of time. Even in the north and other sections where trees abound the experience of those who have tried to show that where large quantities of trees are required they can be more profitably bought from nurserymen or raised from seed than dug up, even are difficult to find. Trees that have been once been transplanted if they do not start to start with, are the cheapest in the end.

Much time has been lost by trying to get trees from nurseries to grow on the naked prairie, and much more will be lost if the same plan is persisted in. When it is intended to set out only a few trees for ornamental purposes more pains may be. All injured roots should be cut clean with a sharp knife. A hole considerable larger than the full spread of the roots, should be dug. Filled with old soil from a garden. This earth should be highest in the centre, so that all the roots may slope down. Cover the roots with more of the garden soil, setting as little as possible on the wild soil that was dug out come in contact with the roots. Throw a pail of water, from the roots down with your feet, and mulch it and the tree with half rotted manure. Mulching after watering is much better for the tree than many pails thrown on at intervals in hot weather. It was formerly thought a good plan to stake trees when first planted out, by driving a stake into the ground and tying the tree to it. It is now considered much better to take pains to secure a considerable amount of root and reduce the top so that there will be but little tendency to blow over. Placing stakes over the roots has a tendency to stay them and also to keep the ground moist.

Spring is the best time to plant evergreens. The utmost care must be taken to keep the roots from exposure to the wind, as a very brief exposure to the dry searching wind of spring will injure any tree and irretrievably ruin an evergreen.

C. L. Smith, an experienced grower, says one great obstacle to successful tree growing is planting too thinly. The native condition of forest trees are densely of growth, abundance of shade, and liberal natural mulching; and if we would be successful in raising artificial groves we must provide the above condition.

Small trees are safer to grow than large ones. It has been plainly said, "To grow large trees, plant small ones."—Battleford Herald.

Fire Guards.

In conversation with a stockman the other day, he spoke of the fire guards along the railway tracks. He had recently travelled over the Galt road, along each side of which there is a fire guard of two furrows. During his trip he saw a prairie fire jump this guard, and he claims that less than four furrows is useless, and that the grass should be burned between the furrows and the track. These two furrows on each side of the all track cost the company $250, and two more could be plowed for still less, as there would be no marking out to do. The distance between Lethbridge and Canmore is 109 miles. In view of the fact that a railway is shortly to be built right through the centre of the range country, from Calgary to Macleod, it is deemed of the utmost importance that a sufficient fire guard should be plowed on each side of the track as it is laid. This should at least be 100 feet from the track and should consist of four furrows, with the grass burned off between the furrows and the track. Considering the cost which attended the making of the fire guards on the Galt road, it seems as if a perfectly secure guard could be made between here and Calgary for about $500, the distance being only 102 miles, and between Calgary and the boundary line for $1,000 at the outside. This is a matter which should, at all events, receive the consideration of stockmen.—Macleod Gazette.

A BARE TRUTH.

Swiss Music in the Royal Opera House.

That the Royal Opera House was crowded with such a large and appreciative audience upon the occasion of the concert by the Mendelssohn Quintette Club last evening speaks well for the good taste of the Calgary public. Those who attended had undoubtedly anticipated a purely musical treat and they were not disappointed. The reputation of the Boston Mendelssohn Quintette Club is a continental one and those who attended last night's entertainment who had not already enjoyed a concert by this talented combination naturally expected one of the musical treats of their lives, and got it. The acoustic properties of our Opera House were not such as to allow of the music being heard to the best advantage, but nevertheless the audience showed itself to be delighted by its liberal bestowal of applause.

The members of the company were Herr Wilhelm Ohliger, Solo, Violin and Concert Master; Mr. Manassa Adler, Solo Violin; Mr. Thomas Ryan, Solo Clarinet and Viola; Herr Fritz Seutachter, Viola and Violoncello; Herr Anton Hekking, Solo Violoncello; His Majesty the King of Holland, and Miss Alice Ryan, prima donna soprano. The programme while not exactly severely classical was of a classical nature and it speaks well for the taste of the audience that the applause was judiciously bestowed, with perhaps one exception. The playing of the quintette was simply magnificent. Not only were the movements done with that smoothness, which long practice alone can bring, but there was a harmony in expression and feeling which brought out to perfection the rich subtleties of the music. While all the numbers contributed by the quintette were revelations of artistic interpretation of the sublime music, perhaps the best impression created was by the rendering of Mozart's Minuet, played as an encore, and that such was the case was undoubtedly due to the fact that this selection is a peculiarly tuneful and striking air. The opinion of the audience was perhaps divided as to which was the feature of the programme: Herr Anton Hekking's cello solos or Herr Ohliger's violin solos. Both artists have genius of a rare order and a wonderful mastery of their grand instruments, and finer music than they produced will not be heard in Calgary for many a day. Mr. Thomas Ryan's clarinet solos were received with well deserved favor. The singing of Miss Ryan was undoubtedly the disappointment of the evening. The horrible acoustic properties of the Opera House of course would not allow the fair artist to do justice to herself, but allowing for this serious handicap there was cause for some disappointment. Miss Ryan has an undeniably sweet voice and a cultured way of singing; but it is most decidedly lacking in richness and volume. Her pronounced artistic attainments were well appreciated by the audience; but after all it is a little difficult to account for the fact that she was accorded a triple encore.

Altogether the concert was a grand artistic triumph and the thanks of the public are certainly due to Mr. T. P. Braden for his public spirit in giving the necessary guarantee to bring the company to Calgary.

CALGARY CATHEDRAL.

Annual Easter Vestry Meeting of the Parishioners.

The annual Easter vestry meeting of the parishioners of the Cathedral Church of the Redeemer was held last evening. The Rev. Mr. A. W. F. Cooper occupied the chair and there was a large attendance of Parishioners.

The usual annual reports were submitted by the People's Warden Mr. J. P. J. Johnson and adopted. The warden's report explained that the funds for the construction of the new parochial hall had been loaned to the church by the bishop of the diocese on the agreement that when a suitable teacher can be obtained, the building shall be used as well for a high school for girls, as for the purposes to which it may be put by the congregation of the church. The fund is to be repaid within three years from 10th March last without interest. It is proposed to pay off this loan by getting up entertainments and by the establishment of a Ladies Aid Society. It has been found in Winnipeg and other places that three or four hundred dollars a year have been raised by Ladies Aid Societies, so that the warden hopes and indeed that there will be little or no difficulty in repaying this loan if the ladies of the church will give their hearty co-operation.

Referring to donations to the church, the report remarked:—"Our thanks are due to the Bishop for the gift of the new altar rails to Mrs. Pinsham for carpets and kneelers in the chancel, to Mrs. Lindsay and Mrs. F. B. Leffert for the white altar frontal; to Dr. Lindsay for the matting in the aisle; to Col. Herchmer for the brass altar desk, presented by him in memory of the late Sergeant Taylor, N. W. M. P.; to our rector for the carpets given in the vestry and to several ladies for their kind assistance during the year."

Last February an arrangement was entered into between the rector and warden, and the bishop by which the church has been created the Cathedral Church of the Diocese of Calgary, and whereby certain rights have been granted to the present rector.

The reports having been adopted the election of the church officers was proceeded with. The rector appointed Mr. W. Arnold rector's warden and on motion of Mr. Bradthwaite seconded by Mr. Pearson, Mr. E. J. Chambers was unanimously elected People's Warden.

The following were elected members of the vestry: Messrs. Pearson, Johnson, Reddy, West, Ebertson, Bouchier, J. L. Bowen and Charles Watson.

Messrs. A. D. Bradthwaite and E. B. Scott were appointed auditors.

Votes of thanks having been passed to the retiring church warden and the auditors, the meeting adjourned.

About Foot Racing.

R. J. Ogden and W. A. Smith, two of Calgary's hustling business men, spend their spare time foot racing. They are assumed to be seen in each other's company and do all their practicing along in the early hours of the morning. Bob is a pretty good all round insurance agent and hotelman, a business in which the muscles of the tongue are only brought in play; while Smithie is engaged in a business that keeps him constantly dodging men who want to sell him whisky, which has a tendency to develop the leg muscles. They took a trial spin on McTavish street yesterday morning at 3 o'clock. The distance was 500 yards. Smithie won in a canter.—Donald Truth.

Yielding $20,000 a Year.

The Perry Creek Gold Mining Company's ground is now producing dust at a monthly rate that will aggregate about $20,000 a year. The company has labor and overcome many difficulties, but are now reaping a small reward for their perseverance. A letter from foreman Dow to secretary Jacoby states that the tunnel is still in the old river-bed canyon, which is very narrow in places. The bedrock and rimrock are quite smooth. The quality of the gold taken out is coarse. The yield for April is expected to average fully as large as that of three previous months, as good-looking ground is being worked. The total yield for January, February and March was $4,797. Truth.

A Critic Criticized.

To the Editor of the REDACTED.

SIR.—Will you kindly allow me through your columns to express my regret that such an unjust, ungentlemanly, ungentlemanly criticism should have appeared in the REDACTED of the 23d inst.

Also I may say that the Critic is in error in several instances.

The Critic says that Mr. Crane has a fine bass voice, I take exception and say that Mr. Crane has an exceedingly fine baritone-voice.

The Critic also says that Mrs. Allan showed to advantage in the song "O Thou that Tellesst." I fully endorse all that can be said in favor of the above named lady and gentleman as musicians, but beg to say that instead of a song, it was a solo from the Oratorio "Messiah" which Mrs. Allan sang.

Whatever was wrong with the Critic, whether it was the fact that we did not send him a few complimentary tickets, or what it was I cannot tell, but he seemed to ignore the fact that the performers were all unpaid and for the most part untrained.

I certainly think that the Critic should have heard (some at least) sing again before he gave his verdict so emphatically and mercilessly, for it appears that he is by no means perfect, as I am given to understand that at the St. George's dinner he sang well with both French and English, so you could not tell one word he sang from beginning to end. Now, Sir, we are glad at all times to hear of any musical talent coming to town; we will come them right heartily and shall be pleased, if instead of simply criticizing, they will join us in trying to raise the musical standard of the city, and so give some of the untrained the benefit of their training.

Respectfully yours,

W. H. WELLCOME.

The Critic Criticized.

To the Editor of the REDACTED.

SIR.—I read with much amusement the outburst of indignation penned by Mr. Wellcome in your columns of yesterday's date. The accusations of injustice, want of generosity and ungentlemanliness I pass over as being merely the outcome of a heated imagination, for Mr. Wellcome does not attempt to substantiate any of these charges. And now for the enormities to which he takes exception.

1. As regards my having called Mr. Crane's very fine voice,—"bass." I do not know what that gentleman himself calls his voice, but considering his exceptional compass, perhaps I should have been more correct, had I described him as being in possession of a bass tone with a baritone register.

2. Mr. Wellcome objects to my calling "O Thou that Tellesst" a "Song." I have always been under the impression that any words set to music composed a "Song." Webster defines the word "Song" as being—that which is sung or uttered with musical modulation, whether of the human voice, or that of a bird. I am exceedingly sorry that I am forced to accept Webster's definition, in opposition to Mr. Wellcome.

As Mr. Wellcome has referred to the question of complimentary tickets, I am bound to confess that he did not extend the usual courtesy to the "Fires," or at any rate to that portion to which I have the honor to belong. I need scarcely say that I should not have alluded to this matter, had Mr. Wellcome not insinuated that my criticism was influenced by the petty consideration of 75c.

One part of Mr. Wellcome's letter I cannot understand; he says—"he seemed to ignore the fact that the performers were all unpaid and for the most part untrained." Whatever Mr. Wellcome's opinion of me as a critic may be, he surely cannot think I am so ignorant as not to know that amateur artists at a benefit concert are not usually paid. As regards the voices being untrained—Mr. Wellcome will find, if he reads my report a little more carefully, that I pointed out, that, "with training" those who so kindly helped him, would do justice to that training. In pointing out what I considered bad points in the various singers voices I also said:—of Miss James "that she showed decided promise"; of Miss Paterson that she "deserves credit for her singing of 'Where is Heaven', she has a good clear voice and with training would make a very pretty singer"; of Miss Parish that she "has a powerful voice, her high notes being good." Now I ask any impartial person, what these artists have to complain of; but I am forgetting, it is not they who complain, but Mr. Wellcome—perhaps he has a private grievance. I can only say that what I wrote was written with an honest desire to encourage these singers, and to those ladies who in any way feel hurt at my remarks, I can only offer my most sincere apologies and assure them that nothing was further from my thoughts than being ill-mannered. I regret not being able to join Mr. Wellcome in his laudable desire of the musical standard of the city, but shall be always willing in a humble way to give whatever help lies in my power.

In conclusion, Sir, I beg to say that whenever it is my lot to be present in an official capacity at any entertainment in Calgary, I shall always endeavor to do my duty impartially; bestowing praise where praise is due and pointing out errors as kindly as I can, where, in my opinion they exist, nor shall I ever be influenced by such passions as that which Mr. Wellcome has been ill-advised enough to give vent to.

Apologizing for the length of this letter.

I am, Sir,

Yours etc.,

"The Much Criticized Critic."

Town Council.

There was a meeting of the town fathers in the council chamber last evening at 7.30 o'clock. The meeting was convened to receive the report of the committee of the council appointed to examine into and report on the plans and specifications prepared by T. C. Keefer, for the Calgary Gas & Water Works company of the system of water works which that company proposes to build in Calgary subject to approval and agreement with the town authorities. The special committee consisting of Mayor Marsh, A. Grant, G. Murdoch, and J. G. Fitz Gerald, and all the other members of the council were present. Mr. A. Lucas, secretary of the Water Works company was also present. The committee reported in substance that on account of the shortness of the time since the matter had been placed in their hands, and their inability so far to secure the services of a competent hydraulic engineer to act for the town, they were unable to bring in a full report and asked for further time to deal with the question. It was moved by Councillor King, seconded by Councillor Bannerman and resolved that the committee be granted till next Tuesday evening the 30th inst to bring in their report at the regular meeting of the council.

THE WEEK'S LOCAL NEWS

Wednesday.

Sergeant Carroll, who a few days ago received word that he had been transferred to Calgary, left for that post yesterday. — Battleford Herald.

Messrs. Sawyer & Dryland have leased Macmillan's old stopping place at Sheep Creek, and intend running the establishment on a popular basis. Both are good men and the traveling public can depend upon good accommodation in their house.

The catch of salmon in the Fraser River this season is exceptionally good and the idea that the supply was being exhausted, is for the present at least exploded. About 25 cases of fresh salmon of 100 to 150 lbs. each pass through Calgary on every east bound train, for Toronto and Montreal from New Westminster.

The Herald has good authority for saying that the passenger traffic on the C. P. R. between Port Arthur and the Pacific coast is assuming such proportions that the board of directors are now seriously considering the doubling the train service between those points. If this is brought about there will be no reason for Calgary not having one daylight train each way every day.

Repeated hints have been thrown out by the C. P. R. officials that a change of divisional points could be made in the western division, and that it is quite possible Calgary might be made the seat of the principal work shops between Winnipeg and the Pacific coast. Now is the time to agitate, for when there is another division of the road made or larger work shops built at the present changing points, it will be more difficult than now to secure these works, which all admit would be a benefit to the town and still greater benefit to the railway company.

Supt. Niblock, of the C. P. R. and Mechanical Superintendent Cross arrived in Mr. Niblock's car at 8 a. m. He was at once waited on by W. F. Orr, chairman of public works, in reference to the scheme of making a public park on the C. P. R. grounds between McFavish and Oiler Streets, along the line of the railway north of the freight yard and platform. Mr. Niblock consents to recommend that the company prepare a plan for the park and put a substantial fence around it, provided the corporation will undertake the care of the park, and in the event of water works being built in Calgary, to place a fountain or two in the park.

Mr. Wm. S. Streeter for many years cashier of the Merchants National Bank St. Johnsbury, Vt. and now of the North West Guaranty Loan company of Minneapolis, is making a short stay in Calgary. We noticed a couple of days ago that Mr. Streeter and some other gentlemen interested in the Alberta Mills at Red Deer, with their wives, had arrived in town. Mr. Streeter on account of a bad cold did not go to their limits with the others but has been taking in the situation about town. He says that after having crossed the continent frequently and having become acquainted with most of the new places in the western states he has seen no place which in his opinion has a brighter or greater future before it than Calgary.

Thursday.

Major Walker returned from his Kananisikis mills this morning. Every day brings more or less good men who come to stay with the country. Mr. Wallace has just arrived from Campbellford, Ont., with a car load of settlers effect. He has secured a farm 8 miles from town.

The complete machinery for Robinson's Elbow Park cheese factory has arrived from London. There is a car full of it. The machinery is heavy and substantial looking. Mr. Robinson has got the beautiful springs near the centre of the park nicely cleaned out, and we understand the milk from a large number of cows will be available as soon as the machinery is in position, so that good cheese and plenty of it from Elbow Park, will soon be in the market.

Jimmy Morris is dead. Deceased was an old timer and widely known in Calgary. Lately he has been living in a house up the Elbow near the Riverside track. He was taking to some men working at the track getting the race course into order just before twelve today, when a fit of coughing came on. After a few seconds blood began to issue from his mouth and he swooned. Dr. Rouleau was at once sent for, but by the time he arrived Morris was dead. The doctor says the cause of death was the rupture of a blood vessel and he does not consider an inquest necessary.

Meeting at the Oddfellows Hall, the members of the order formed in procession on Stephen Avenue about a quarter to eleven, and headed by their band proceeded to the Cathedral Church of the Redeemer, where services had been reserved for the members of the order. The usual church service was held and Rev. A. W. F. Cooper delivered an excellent sermon. The preacher took as his theme the brotherly love that existed between David and Jonathan.

The members of the Oddfellows Order and urged his hearers not to allow their love and charity to stop at the relief of the temporal needs of their brethren, but to endeavor to minister to their spiritual needs by helping them along the path of virtue and right conduct. During the service Mr. Crane sang the beautiful solo "Trust in the Lord." After the service the Oddfellows reformed their procession and proceeded to their hall where they dispersed. The members presented quite an imposing appearance, their numbers making quite an impression on the public. The Cathedral was crowded to the doors of the porch. A feature of the procession was the march played by the band, the music being an arrangement of "Nearer my God to Thee," and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."

Another Critic.

To the Editor of the Herald.

Sir.—I have read the criticism of singers at the Wellcome benefit, and have read Mr. Wellcome's letter of complaint. Now I have been a constant attendant at the singing entertainments given in Calgary for the past five years, and on almost every occasion came away disgusted at the persistent and continued floundering of unduly ambitious amateurs in their attempts to reach beyond their powers, smothering by these abortive efforts the distinct articulation which is to me the charm and attraction of a song. I do not know what Mr. Wellcome calls an oratorio, I don't know whether this is something imported or not. It may be from Italy or from Bruce, Ontario. I am but a simple English student and have often observed that young ladies and gentlemen who can sing a charming song in a drawing room, when they are invited to entertain upon a platform, seem to lose their good sense and attempt to sing something in a tone beyond their reach, not one word of which can be understood. The most surprising part of this is that a glib audience will often applaud this kind of thing.

I was heartily pleased with the criticism that appeared in the Tribune last week. I think such criticism has been wanted for a long time, and feel persuaded that if our otherwise worthy young amateurs take proper note of it, it will do them good, and make their entertainments more agreeable and give us singing instead of screeching.

"If you would make me feel well pleased tonight,"
"And fill my heart with cheer,"
"Themsing to me the good old songs,"
"And sing the words out clear."

ANOTHER CRITIC.

Calgary April 20 1899.

To the Editor of the Herald.

DEAR SIR.—Permit me through your paper to give expression to my sincere thanks to those ladies and gentlemen who took part in the concert in Knox Church on Monday evening, April 22nd, for the cheerful and efficient services which they have rendered the public from time to time. They have laid the community under obligations which I am sure will not be forgotten by giving to every religious and charitable enterprise the benefit of musical talent of no inferior order, when it must have cost them no small amount of time and labor snatched from the pressure of other duties.

Yours &c.

J. F. HERR.
